Description

Hotel Lone is new, five-star design hotel in Rovinj, one of the most picturesque towns on the Adriatic coast. Responsible for design and construction of the hotel were renowned Croatian architects from 3LHD studio.

Testimonial

"While designing Hotel Lone, we considered several aspects of suspended ceilings. Main was how to incorporate visible service elements to the ceiling without compromising aesthetic criteria. Therefore, we designed a discontinuous ceiling consisting of variously sized panels arranged at the distance which provides space for lighting, air condition units, sprinklers and other elements. Differently sized panels compose a non-directional layout while the material of the panel also varies and was determined by functional and aesthetical requirements. Customized suspension system was used to provide demountability and easy plenum access. The idea was to create a dynamic ceiling system comprising of different properties and appearance (acoustics, reflection, color, fire resistance), requirements that were successfully met by Armstrong products."
